A Remarkable Snielde.

A Boston dispatch to the New York Herald gives the following particulars of a peculiar and ingeniously-executed suicide, heretofore briefly reported as having oc-curred at Chelsea, Mass.: Two days ago a farmer named Pillsbury had occasion to go to Newsburyport, and he left his son, Stephen M thirty years of age, in charge of the farm. When Mr. Pillsbury returned, The following gentlemen can now be found with The following gentlemen can now be found with Of the farm. LOCAL MATTERS.

STANDARD TIME FOR THE CITY—AN INTERESTING AND USEFUL ARRANGEMENT.—
Superintendent R. M. J. Paynter, of the city fire-alarm and police-telegraph, has inaugurated an arrangement by which the city will hereafter be furnished with standard time. Mr. Paynter has long felt the necessity of baying the gongs in the police-stations struck with certainty and regularity twice daily in order that correct time may be struck upon the city bells. He desired this—first, to show the fire-telegraph and this-first, to show the fire-telegraph and gongs were in order, and, secondly, to give standard time all over the city.

Mr. A. F. Jahnke, jeweller, at the corner of Twelfth and Main streets, has for several years been striking the time by hand at 1 and 7 P. M. when he could do so; but sometimes it would be forgotten at the exact moment, and then again his attention might be drawn off by a customer. He fully appreciated how very unsatisfactory this was, and has for many unsatisfactory this was, and has for many months past been endeavoring to make an attachment to his regulator, by which the machinery of the clock would strike the bour instead of by hand. After many days and nights of patient labor he has accom-plished what has been tried before and CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG CONCERNING THE failed; and now precisely at 6 A. The entire opera went so smooth and delightfully last evening as to meet the requirements of the most execting. We did, wever, join most heartily in utterrances f these two naughty piratical orphans when they so harshly condoled with the sad bereavement of the "Major-General." The choruses were all rendered with beautiful effect, but especially the "invocation to poetry," which is a grand eating the young trees there. and received a double cncore from an en-thusiastic audience. The lovely chorus with its exquisite transition at the end of the first act, the "talk about the weather," and the "policemen's chorus," were also given with floished execution. The opera sical points, and all so well executed, that is hard to discriminate. Miss Minnie Walsh's Mabel has become a favorite rôle with Richmond andiences, and she received some flattering marks of approval. Her voice is good, and she sings with bird-like flexibility. If some variety were added to her one-tudied and rather stereotyped gesture of the right hand, especially noticeable in song of inspiration to the police, it would greatly improve her acting and grace.

Mr. W. Gillow is truly a model Major-General, and fully deserves the favorable expressions of admiration he nightly receives from his auditors. He is a finished artist, and sang and acted all the requirements of his part to perfection. His execution of the lovely "Ode to the Evening Breeze" was an improvement on the night mar the effect by false vocalization.
